Background

The Bastianich Winery, founded in 1997 consists of 35 hectares (90 acres) of vineyards. All of the vines are in the Friuli Colli Orientali DOC area in 2 distinct climatic zones. The deep connection of The Bastianich Family stretches back decades and generations. From early connections with the greatest winemaking families in the 1970s and 1980s, to the promotion of the finest wines Friuli had to offer in their Family Restaurants in New York City and beyond... Culminating in the realization of a dream to create great wines of longevity and complexity in their own vineyards. The Bastianich Family has been one of the greatest supporters of Friulian wines in the United States and around the world.

Tasting Notes

The best of the Old and New Worlds... crisp, dry and mouth-watering with lovely Sauvignon aromas... an uncommonly full mouthfeel and long finish. The Climate and soil of the Friulian hills are perfect for creating a Sauvignon Blanc that is classically aromatic and complex. Called 'Friuli's secret weapon', Sauvignon Blanc reaches levels of quality of the great French wines.
